

Kampot Part 4 October 2025

Thursday 30th October, 2025.

We had our last breakfast in the Riki Tiki Tavi and we settled our bill. Then it was the final packing and we caught a Tuktuk to the Giant Ibis bus Station.

I like to be early, but we were very early. We got on the bus early, all of us, and waited, only to be told we had to wait longer still for more passengers.

Eventually, they didn't come and we set off for Phnom Penh.

There was one toilet stop and we got into the Giant Ibis office at lunchtime.

The hop on, hop off bus in Phnom Penh.

Then it was another TukTuk to the Aquarius Hotel.

We walked out and found a Pho cafe on a corner and sat down to a more traditional Pho than we get in Siem Reap.

It was a longer, hotter walk to the Lucky Supermarket (the one we went to on our first trip to Phnom Penh, 2 1/2 years ago to get David's license).

After a rest (it is tiring sitting on a bus!), we went for a swim in the infinity pool on the rooftop of the hotel.

We went out for tea for hamburgers. The restaurant was well set up, but smelled damp. The burgers were good, but pricey and we were the only customers. I'm sure there are better places.

Friday 31st October, 2025.

It was back to the Giant Ibis bus office on Friday to catch the bus home.

A last look at the Mekong River and the Tonle Sap River.

Two stops again, the first just a toilet break and the second for lunch (at a later time of about 2:00pm). With the traffic getting busier, it took a long time to drive along National Highway 6 into Siem Reap, but easy enough to avoid the Tuktuk drivers, order a Pass App Tuktuk and drive home.

A great time in Kampot, a time of relaxing and moving at a slower pace.